PREFATORY NOTE

This index undertakes to deal only with the printed reports of administrative officers, legislative committees, and special commissions of the states and with governors' messages for the period since 1789. It does not refer to constitutions, laws, legislative proceedings or court decisions, except in so far as they happen to be found in the class of documents above mentioned. It attempts, on the other hand, to furnish a list, as complete as possible, of all the documents and messages which fall within its scope, in whatever form they may have been published, whether separately, in collected documents, legislative journals or volumes of laws, and to indicate the volume in which they may be found. Unless otherwise indicated the material indexed is in the New York Public Library. In some cases reference is made to reports and messages prior to 1789, and to publications other than public documents which it was felt would be helpful to those likely to use the index. Although these have been included no claim to completeness is made except in the case of the documents and messages since 1789. In addition to furnishing a list of reports and messages, the index undertakes to supply a reference by volume and page to all material of economic importance which they contain, with the exception of that contained in the reports of bureaus of labor. The reason for this exception is that these reports have already been indexed by Carroll D. Wright, late United States Commissioner of Labor,[1] in a volume published by his department in 1902. Although the index is confined to matter of economic bearing, the term " economic " has been given a broad interpretation. In view of this liberal interpretation it is believed that the index will constitute a useful addition to the resources of students of almost any aspect of American history.

It will be seen that the present index differs both in scope and character from R. R. Bowker's " State Publications," the valuable pioneer work in this field. It is narrower in scope than " State Publications " which aims to present a list not only of reports and governors' messages but of all state documents; but in the field which the present work covers it contains not only a more complete list of documents than has hitherto been published but also an index of their contents in so far as these have an economic bearing.

Each volume is divided into two parts. Part I contains references to general sources of information and descriptive matter found in the documents. Part II contains references to particular series of reports, and particular topics, arranged alphabetically by topics. The references under each topic are divided into two groups, viz., " serial " and " non-serial." Within each of these divisions the arrangement is chronological. Anyone desiring information on any particular topic will, therefore, look for that topic in its alphabetical order in Part II. Numerous cross-references will, it is hoped, make it possible to discover with little difficulty all the material bearing on that topic.

Uniform entry words for subjects recurring in different states will be retained throughout the series. It will thus be possible to make a study not only of the historical development of an economic subject as reflected in the documents of an individual state but also to make a comparative study of that development as it has taken place in the country at large. To accomplish this purpose it has been necessary to make the selection of entry words without reference to the peculiarities of local usage, such peculiarities being recognized in the case of each state by cross-references. The abbreviations employed are believed to be sufficiently obvious to make a table of them unnecessary. Unless otherwise stated the size of the books is octavo.

The present volume has been preceded by two similar volumes, confined to the states of Maine and New Hampshire respectively. It will be followed by others, each devoted to a single state. The work when completed will, therefore, furnish an index to the economic material in the reports and governors' messages of all the states of the union.

PART I

GENERAL WORKS

No works of general description, such as those which have been included under this caption in the analyses of Maine and New Hampshire documents, have been published by the state of Vermont.

LEGISLATIVE MANUAL

The earliest printed manual of which there is a record is a broadside published in 1826. Apparently none other was published in this form. The regular publication of the manual was begun in 1832 and has been continued, with apparently only one interruption, to the present time. Up to 1870 it was an annual publication; from that time it has been published biennially. At first this manual was called "Directory and rules of the Senate and House of Representatives," and continued so to be called with some minor variations until 1886, when the title "Legislative directory" was adopted. A collation of the publication up to 1877 is given in Gilman's Bibliography of Vermont, p. 306 et seq. The directory contains the usual matter, viz. the constitution, electoral statistics, official biographies, lists of officers, of legislative sessions, etc., but no valuation or finance returns, sometimes found in the legislative manuals of other states.

OFFICIAL NEWSPAPER

Outside of the customary printing and circulation of public acts by newspapers of the state, no paper seems to have served as the especial repository of official matter. The "Watchman" has been published for many years during sessions of the legislature as "The Daily Journal." The "Argus and Patriot" has occasionally been published daily during sessions of the legislature.

In compliance with a resolution adopted in the U. S. House of Representatives on July 10, 1832, the Secretary of the Treasury laid before the next and each succeeding session of Congress, until 1863, such statements, or returns, showing the capital, circulation, discounts, specie, deposits, etc., of the different banks and banking companies as were submitted to the respective legislatures and governors of the several states within the year. Where these statements could not be obtained, such other information as would best supply the deficiency was required by the resolution to be presented. Such annual reports as were presented to and printed by the U. S. in consequence of the above resolution, have been added to the entries for the annual reports printed by the state. The deficiency information alluded to and obtained in place of the annual reports is usually in the form of a condensed statement of the returns required, and may be found as follows:
